Section 1.00 Administrative Overview

1.1 Purpose and Background

Purpose:

The Alabama State Department of Education (ALSDE) invites qualified and experienced vendors to submit a proposal for developing services to update the Alabama Learning Exchange (ALEX) Learning Object Repository (LOR).

In using this method of solicitation, we are requesting your best effort in seeking the best value for the requirements as indicated in this RFP.

The purpose of this repository is to enable educators to curate, create, and vet high-quality instructional materials aligned with Alabama content standards, utilizing the Competencies and Academic Standards Exchange® (CASE®) framework. The Alabama content standards are the foundation of the repository and are fundamental to the proper organization and overall function of the site. The content standards serve as the link between resources and ensure consistency and interoperability among the diverse resource collections. Because the content standards are the cornerstone of the repository, content standard data must be accurate, easily accessible, and current on the site. By implementing the CASE® framework, it is possible to electronically exchange content standards in an open, machine-readable format so various applications and platforms can access the data in real time. Current Alabama Course of Study Content Standards are published in the CASE® digital format on the alabamastandards.org platform. Therefore, the ALEX LOR must be developed as a CASE® consumer to easily retrieve the content standard data, and proposals submitted should clearly indicate the ability to deliver an intuitive, engaging user experience that seamlessly integrates with the CASE® framework.

The objective of this Request for Proposal is to locate a qualified and experienced developer to assess the current state of the ALEX LOR, create a comprehensive project plan, and execute necessary updates, developments, and deployment within an accelerated timeframe. While price remains a significant consideration, additional criteria will also play a crucial role in our award decision. These criteria are outlined in the proposal evaluation, design specifications, and other contract requirements detailed in this RFP.

Background:

ALEX is a foundational tool for educators in our state, and we aim to enhance its user experience, accessibility, and interoperability. Our goals, objectives, and strategies are focused on improving the overall appearance and functionality of the LOR to fully support the Alabama Department of Education's Alabama Achieves strategic plan. In addition, an intuitive platform will enhance opportunities to share resources with a variety of stakeholders for the improvement of education practices for all stakeholders.

Vision: Build a robust infrastructure for learning by curating and sharing digital learning content accessible to all users.

Goal: Design a Learning Object Repository (LOR) of high-quality instructional materials aligned to the Alabama Course of Study standards to support engaging and empowering learning experiences for every child, every chance, every day.

Request for Proposal (RFP)
RFP ALSDE 2024-08

Objective: Redesign the existing ALEX repository to produce collections of targeted educational resources correlated to the Alabama content standards for Alabama educators.

Strategy 1: Update content, refresh layouts, and improve navigation for better conversions and site performance.

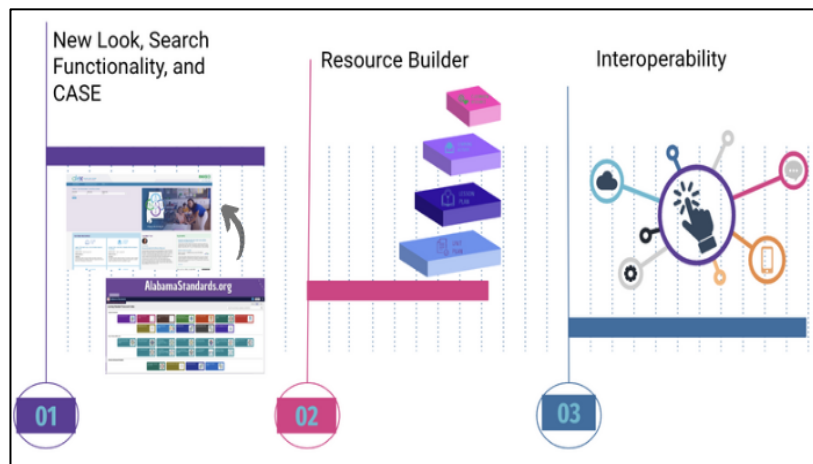

- Migrate existing data and content.
- Utilize APIs to retrieve CASE-formatted academic standards from alabamastandards.org CASE publishing tool to tag resources to Alabama content standards.
  - Content must be aligned to standards using the CASE-based identifiers.

Strategy 2: Create a resource builder for teachers to curate and develop high-quality, standards-based learning activities, lessons, and unit plans.

- Create a collaborative environment for content authoring, approval workflows, and publishing.

Strategy 3: Apply 1EdTech standards to integrate digital curriculum resources from the ALEX repository with other ALSDE systems, enhancing the effectiveness of the digital learning environment.

- Build an open, trusted, and innovative digital learning ecosystem correlated to the Alabama Course of Study Standards.
- Create a “one-stop” shop for ALSDE instructional resources.

The Alabama Learning Exchange's (ALEX) mission to “provide educators with high-quality instructional materials and content knowledge addressing the needs of all learners in the application of academic standards” establishes the foundation for the program. ALEX is dedicated to fostering a thriving educational ecosystem that facilitates the discovery, creation, and exchange of high-quality instructional materials, innovative teaching practices, and transformative ideas. By providing a comprehensive and accessible repository of standards-based open educational materials, professional development opportunities, and intuitive technology, we aim to support educators in enhancing student engagement, promoting lifelong learning, and achieving academic excellence.

Current Website:

Version 2 - <https://alex.alsde.edu>

Launch: Version 1 - 2000, Version 2 - 2022

Platform: Version 1 - PHP Version 5.4.16, MySQL Version 5.5.60-MariaDB

- Custom-built database that has evolved over 20+ years of service

Version 2 - Drupal 9, MySQL-Maria DB

- Database built from a Drupal baseline and structured to work with Drupal 9+.
- CODE REPOSITORY - The Code repository stored configuration changes and code changes that encompassed YAML synchronization files, CSS modifications, updates to page layouts via TWIG files, as well as base level .htaccess permissions, among others.

Integrations: No

Host: Alabama State Department of Education

The ALEX application was originally developed and launched in the early 2000s. Many of the components on which ALEX was developed were quickly reaching end-of-life including the database version, the PHP source code version, and many of its libraries. In September 2021, the ALEX application was transitioned to a Drupal CMS in an attempt to expand its features, add additional data sources, and implement new functionalities. Although all current LOR data is stored in the Drupal CMS, it was determined that this platform was not conducive to the desired user experience for the ALEX LOR.

Existing functionalities:

- ALEX provides a centralized repository of open educational resources (OER), including classroom resources, learning activities, lessons, and unit plans, all aligned to the Alabama content standards.
- Educators can search for openly licensed educational resources based on grade level, subject area, content standards, and keywords, making it easy to find materials suitable for their needs. All resources are associated with an Alabama content standard.
- The platform provides a user “workspace” and review portal for Alabama teachers to curate, create, and share their collections of standards based OERs, learning activities, lessons, and unit plans. A rigorous quality assurance process is in place to review and assess these learning objects before they are made available to the public.
- Current user roles and permissions on Version 1 and Version 2.
  - Public - Any user can view published content without a user account including content standards, classroom resources, learning activities, lesson, and unit plans.
  - Author - Authenticated users can develop and publish resources.
  - Reviewer - Assigned reviewers have access to view and approve content before publishing.
  - Alex Admin - Assign ability to Add, Edit, Delete, Approve, Review, and publish resources. User management capabilities.
- Alabama content standards are published in CASE on the alabamstandards.org Satchel platform.

Target audience/User base:

- The primary users of ALEX are educators, including teachers, curriculum developers, and instructional designers, across various grade levels and subjects within Alabama and nationwide.
- School administrators and district-level personnel also use ALEX to support professional development initiatives and curriculum planning.
- Students can indirectly benefit from the platform through the high-quality instructional materials and engaging lesson plans that educators access and implement.

Desired improvements and enhancements for the redesigned platform:

- Streamline Navigation: introducing new features to facilitate seamless content discovery and implementing an advanced search system to enable efficient exploration of educational materials.
  - The site will meet Accessibility Standards as required by the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA).
- Continuous Content Updates: regularly updating the platform's content to reflect evolving educational standards and pedagogical approaches.
  - Retrieving Alabama content standards from <https://alabamastandards.org> via API to receive real-time data updates.
  - Implementing a robust monitoring and tracking system that regularly scans the repository for changes, identifying any broken links or changes in tagged content standards.
  - Content updates should be easily managed by the assigned ALSDE staff.
- Improved Resource Builder: providing a workspace for teachers to develop high-quality, standards-based learning objects following instructional design best practices.
  - Creating, collecting, and remixing learning objects to create activities, lessons, and units aligned to the Alabama content standards.
    - Personalization: introducing features that allow educators to customize resources to suit their teaching styles and students' needs.
    - Enhanced Collaboration: incorporating features that promote real-time collaboration among educators, such as commenting/suggesting tools to improve instructional design practices.
- Analytics and Insights: providing educators with data and support on effective resource implementation, as well as its impact on student learning.
- Mobile-Friendly Interface: ensuring that the platform is accessible and user-friendly across all devices and operating systems.
- Interoperability: utilizing 1EdTech standards such as Common Cartridge, CASE, and LTI Resource Search, to facilitate the exchange of data between the ALEX platform and other educational systems to develop a cohesive digital learning ecosystem.
  - Integration with Learning Management Systems (LMS): allowing seamless integration with popular LMS platforms used by schools to simplify resource sharing and assignment distribution.
  - Exchange of resources with CASE Certified Consumers/Providers
